Argument 5

I.

There is no federal question involved in or raised by the record in this case. Petitioner did not raise in the state courts, nor preserve in the record, (1) any claim that she was deprived of due process of law or (2) any question as to the jurisdictional power of the California courts to declare valid the Massachusetts divorce decree of 1921 or (3) any question as to the correctness or effect of the injunction portion of the trial court's judgment 5

(a) The question of due process was neither presented nor argued in the California courts 5

(b) The claim that the California courts were without jurisdictional power to pronounce the Massachusetts divorce valid was not raised in the California courts 6

(c) The claim that the California courts erred in granting injunctive relief, or that the injunction somehow prevents petitioner from having her day in court, was not raised in the California courts 6

No. 412.

NATALIE M. KALMUS,
Petitioner and Appellant Below,

vs.

HERBERT T. KALMUS, and TECHNICOLOR MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION (a corporation), Respondents and Appellees Below.

Brief in Opposition to Petition for Writ of Certiorari to the District Court of Appeal of the State of California, Second Appellate District, Division One.

The respondents file this brief in opposition to the petition for writ of certiorari heretofore filed herein.

Explanation of Appendix to This Brief and Statement of Reasons for Presenting Such Appendix.

Petitioner did not file, or cause to be filed, with the Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States, a full or complete transcript of the record which was before the court to which the writ is asked to be issued. There has been no stipulation permitting petitioner to file, or cause to be printed, a partial record. Respondents have procured, caused to be certified and filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States copies of certain portions of the record omitted by petitioner, together with an excerpt from one of petitioner's briefs in the state courts. Such material respondents have printed as an appendix to this brief. Respondents have not, by this method, brought before this Honorable Court all of the record of proceedings before the California state courts in the cause. For example, respondents have not brought before the court any of the documents which were introduced in evidence at the trial of the cause [R. pp. 70, 72, 73, 77, 79, 80, 81], although such documents were not placed before this court by petitioner. However, inasmuch as petitioner does not question the sufficiency of the evidence in any respect, and since the omitted exhibits are substantially explained in the record, at the points thereof above indicated, we believe there is no necessity for respondents to bring such exhibits before this court. Again, we have not (nor has petitioner) brought before this court any of the evidence at the lengthy hearing [R. pp. 97, 98] on order to show cause although such evidence was a part of the record before the District Court of Appeal of California, and was considered by such court [R. pp. 109, 110]. We feel that petitioner's claims are so lacking in substance that it is unnecessary for respondents to bring the entire testimony before this Honorable Court.

Opinion of the Court Below.

The opinion of the District Court of Appeal of California, Second Appellate District, Division One, is reported in 103 Cal. App. 2d 405.

STATEMENT.

Several Matters, in Addition to Those Set Forth in the Statement in the Petition, Should Be Noted.

When petitioner, as plaintiff in the trial court, moved such court on May 31, 1949, to continue the trial, which was then set for June 1, 1949, she made her motion upon two grounds, viz.: (1) her claimed illnesses and claimed resultant inability to attend at the trial on June 1, 1949, and (2) the pendency in the Superior Court of Norfolk County, Massachusetts, of her action in equity to set aside the divorce decree which she, as plaintiff, had obtained in the Massachusetts court in 1921 [R. pp. 58, 59]. Her claim of illness was based entirely on the affidavit of her doctor [R. p. 60]. Such claim of illness was sharply disputed at the hearing on the motion for continuance by numerous powerful and detailed affidavits filed by respondents (Appendix to this Brief, pp. 39 to 63). In support of the second ground of her said motion for continuance, petitioner relied upon the affidavit of her attorney in the Massachusetts equity action [R. pp. 61, 62]. Such affidavit expressly states that a copy of the petition in the Massachusetts equity action is attached to such affidavit, but such copy of petition does not appear in the record presented by petitioner to this court. A copy of such petition in equity is included in the appendix to this brief at pages 36 through 38.

The said petition in equity was filed in Massachusetts December 29, 1948 [R. p. 62]. Such filing was nineteen days after the California trial court, following a lengthy hearing, had denied suit money and alimony in this action (Appendix to this Brief p. 35).

We are somewhat at a loss to understand precisely what points petitioner seeks to make before this Honorable Court. Under her "Reasons relied on for the allowance of certiorari" (Petition for Writ of Certiorari pp. 6, 7) she makes claim simply that she has been deprived of rights and property without due process of law because the trial court, while she was allegedly ill, denied her motion for a continuance. In her brief in support of her petition herein she specifies four claimed errors, only one of which she asserts to have any bearing upon the matter of due process (Brief in support of Petition for Writ of Certiorari pp. 13, 14), viz.: the denial of the motion for a continuance insofar as the motion was based upon her alleged illness. The other grounds she asserts are: (1) denial of the motion for continuance insofar as the motion was based upon the pendency of her subsequently filed petition in equity to set aside the Massachusets divorce decree of 1921; (2) claimed lack of jurisdictional power in the California courts to pronounce the Massachusetts divorce decree valid, and (3) the incorporation in the judgment of the trial court of an injunction prohibiting petitioner from continuing a course of conduct designed to intimidate, vex and harass the respondent Herbert T. Kalmus.

ARGUMENT.

I.

There Is No Federal Question Involved in or Raised by the Record in This Case. Petitioner Did Not Raise in the State Courts, nor Preserve in the Record, (1) Any Claim That She Was Deprived of Due Process of Law or (2) Any Question as to the Jurisdictional Power of the California Courts to Declare Valid the Massachusetts Divorce Decree of 1921 or (3) Any Question as to the Correctness or Effect of the Injunction Portion of the Trial Court's Judgment.

(a) The Question of Due Process Was Neither Presented nor Argued in the California Courts.

Petitioner has brought before this Honorable Court none of the briefs filed in the California courts.* The only reflection in the record of the questions of law raised by petitioner in the California courts is the decision of the District Court of Appeal of California [R. pp. 95 through 113].

It will be observed from the decision of the District Court of Appeal of California that petitioner did not contend that the denial of her motion for a continuance was anything more than "an abuse of discretion" [R. p. 99].

*Under present California Appellate practice there is no provision for bills of exception. Claimed errors are specified in appellant's opening brief—see Rule 15 of Rules on Appeal adopted by the Judicial Council of the State of California. Said rules are set forth in extenso in 36 Cal. 2d pp. 1 through 39.

(b) The Claim That the California Courts Were Without Jurisdictional Power to Pronounce the Massachusetts Divorce Valid Was Not Raised in the California Courts.

In the California courts petitioner affirmatively stated that the California courts were empowered to declare the Massachusetts divorce decree to be valid (Appendix to this Brief, p. 64.) Her concession in that regard is reflected in the decision of the District Court of Appeal of California [R. p. 102].

(c) The Claim That the California Courts Erred in Granting Injunctive Relief, or That the Injunction Somehow Prevents Petitioner From Having Her Day in Court, Was Not Raised in the California Courts.

It will be observed from the opinion of the District Court of Appeal of California [R. pp. 95 through 113] that petitioner made no contention in that court that the injunction was not properly granted and that she there made no claim that, by the injunction, she was or is enjoined from proceeding in her Massachnsetts action. In fact she is not so enjoined [R. pp. 55, 56].

The law is perfectly clear that this court will not consider questions which were not raised or argued in the State courts or preserved in the record.

McGoldrick v. Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, 309 U. S. 430, 60 S. Ct. 670, 84 L. Ed. 849;

American Surety Co. v. Baldwin, 287 U. S. 156, 53 S. Ct. 98, 77 L. Ed. 231;

Hulbert v. City of Chicago, 26 S. Ct. 617, 202 U. S. 275, 50 L. Ed. 1026;

Roller v. Murray, 34 S. Ct. 902, 234 U. S. 738, 58 L. Ed. 1570;

Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees v. Martin, 268 U. S. 458, 45 S. Ct. 543, 69 L. Ed. 1050;

Zayas v. Lothrop Luce & Co., 231 U. S. 171, 34 S. Ct. 108, 58 L. Ed. 172;

Young v. Masci, 289 U. S. 253, 53 S. Ct. 599, 77 L. Ed. 1158;

Duignan v. United States, 274 U. S. 195, 47 S. Ct. 566, 71 L. Ed. 996.

II.

Petitioner Was Not Deprived of Due Process of Law by Denial of Her Motion for a Continuance.

The only basis asserted by petitioner in support of the claim that she was deprived of due process of law is that petitioner was ill and, consequently, unable to attend at the trial on the date set therefor, and, ergo, that the court deprived her of due process when it denied her motion for a continuance. A fundamental fault of such contention is that upon an adequate and convincing showing that petitioner was in good health and engaged in many and strenuous pleasure pursuits and activities all during the month immediately preceding the trial date (Appendix to this brief, pp. 39 through 63), the court found petitioner's claim of illness to be false and so denied her motion for continuance [R. p. 63]. Denial of petitioner's motion for a continuance as a result of such finding certainly did not deprive her of due process of law.

This court, of course, has authority to scrutinize the evidence once a constitutional question is asserted before it and we have, therefore, caused to be included in the appendix to this brief the evidence rebutting the claim of illness made by petitioner in the trial court (Appendix to this brief, pp. 39 through 63). Perhaps the inclusion of such evidence was an unnecessary precaution inasmuch as this court has said that it is accustomed to adopt the result of the State courts' examination of the record.

In this case the District Court of Appeal of California has stated in clear and concise terms a summary of the evidence upon which petitioner's motion for a continuance was denied and has stated its conclusion that the continuance was properly refused [R. pp. 99, 100, 101].

III.

California Courts Were Authorized to Pronounce the Validity of the Massachusetts Decree of Divorce.

The law is clear that the courts of one state are empowered to declare valid the judgments of the courts of other states. Indeed, it is only by such judicial recognition that the Full Faith and Credit Clause of Article 4, Section 1, of the Constitution of the United States can be carried out with respect to judicial proceedings.

That the courts of one state may consider and determine the validity of the judgments of the courts of other states is made plain in Williams v. North Carolina, 325 U. S. 226, 65 S. Ct. 1092, 89 L. Ed. 1577.

Indeed, so far-reaching is the rule that when the courts of Florida declare to be valid a decree rendered by the courts of Nevada the pronouncement of the Florida courts will be held res judicata upon the subject if the issue is subsequently raised in the Federal courts.

> Bliss v. Bliss (C. C. A. for D. C., 1935), 81 F. 2d 411, cert. den. 297 U. S. 715, 56 S. Ct. 592, 80 L. Ed. 1001.

Petitioner has not seen fit to bring before this Honorable Court any portion of the record reflecting what her evidence might be in support of her claim that the Massachusetts divorce decree was invalid. None the less, such evidence was before the trial court upon a hearing on an order to show cause and was before the District Court of Appeal of California when such court rendered its decision [R. p. 110] and such court held that the evidence justified the trial court in finding that none of the things were true which petitioner asserted as invalidating the Massachusetts decree of divorce [R. p. 110].

From the record of testimony at the trial, which petitioner has brought before this Honorable Court [R. pp. 82, 83], it will be observed that respondents adduced uncontradicted evidence that petitioner's claims of invalidity of the Massachusetts divorce decree were false and untrue.

IV.

The Injunction Portions of the Judgment Do Not Deprive Petitioner of Her Day in Court.

In the first place, the injunctive provisions of the judgment do not purport to prohibit petitioner from pressing the trial of the Massachusetts equity action whereby she seeks to set aside the Massachusets divorce decree [R. pp. 55, 56], nor from proceeding therein so far as the Massachusetts courts will permit her. She may do those things without fearing that she has thereby committed contempt of the California courts.

In the next place, petitioner has had her day in court. That day was the day of trial in the California court when the California trial court declared the Massachusetts divorce decree to be valid. We submit the obvious: that one's right to a day in court does not constitute a right to one day in one court and one day in another. Neither we apprehend, will it ever be held that one has not had his day in court when, although formally advised of the trial date in his action, he elects to sulk elsewhere while the court is hearing the evidence and deciding the case.

Wherefore, it is respectfully suggested that the petition for writ of certiorari should be denied.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK B. BELCHER,

Attorney for Respondents and Appellees Below.

IV.

That in and by the terms of said Agreement, it was further provided that plaintiff would not make any further claim on defendant for support, maintenance, or alimony or for any other payments or property beyond that provided in the Massachusetts divorce decree and the provisions of said contract of February 19, 1945, Exhibit "A" hereto attached.

V.

That defendant has duly performed all the conditions on his part to be performed under the terms of said Contract of February 19, 1945.

VI.

That plaintiff has kept and retained all consideration paid to and received by her pursuant to the terms of said Agreement of February 19, 1945, Exhibit "A" attached hereto; that said Contract has never been rescinded; that no part of the consideration given and paid by defendant pursuant to and under said Contract, has ever been returned to the defendant or any offer of return thereof made; that said Contract is still in full force and effect.

For a Further, Separate, and Fifth Defense to the Alleged Fourth Cause of Action Set Forth in Plaintiff's Complaint, This Defendant Alleges:

I.

That on or about February 19, 1945, plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus and defendant Herbert T. Kalmus made, executed, and entered into an Agreement in writing, a full, true, and correct copy of which, Marked Exhibit "A", is attached hereto and made a part hereof; that in and by the terms of said Agreement, plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus settled, compromised, and released all past, present, and future claims, demands, and liabilities, of every nature and description whatsoever, against the defendant Herbert T. Kalmus, except those arising out of his obligations under said agreement and except his obligations to pay alimony under the decree of divorce rendered by the Massachusetts Court.

II.

At no time until shortly prior to the execution of said Agreement of February 19, 1945, did plaintiff herein ever alleged, claim, assert, or contend to defendant that a partnership existed, or ever did exist, between plaintiff and defendant; nor at any time prior to July 21, 1948 did plaintiff ever demand a partnership accounting of said defendant. That on July 21, 1948, plaintiff commenced in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, an action numbered D-364,392 in the files of the County Clerk of said County, in which said action Natalie M. Kalmus, plaintiff herein, was plaintiff, and Herbert T. Kalmus, defendant herein, was a defendant; that in and by said action said plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus sought a partnership accounting from this defendant for the first time. On December 22, 1921 the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in and for the County of Norfolk, duly and regularly made, rendered, and gave a decree nisi of divorce dissolving the bonds of matrimony between plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus and this answering defendant; thereafter, and on June 23, 1922, said decree of divorce became final pursuant to the laws and statutes in such cases made and provided in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and that ever since December 22, 1921, plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus and defendant Herbert T. Kalmus have been and now are divorced persons and have never remarried. In connection with said divorce, a Property Settlement Agreement was made and entered into and a division of property was then had between plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus and defendant Herbert T. Kalmus. At the time of said divorce between said parties, no claim of the existence of a partnership between plaintiff and this defendant was advanced or asserted by this plaintiff. During the period from July 23, 1902, the date on which plaintiff Natalie M. Kalmus and defendant Herbert T. Kalmus were married, to the present time, the defendant has received, used, conveyed, and dealt in and with various properties and assets as his own and without knowledge or notification of any claim or contention on the part of plaintiff that a partnership had ever existed between plaintiff and this defendant until shortly prior to the execution of the Agreement of February 19, 1945 and except as to said Action Number D-364,392 filed July 21, 1948, as hereinbefore alleged.

III.

That by reason of the foregoing matters, facts, and things, the Fourth Alleged Cause of Action set forth in plaintiff's complaint is barred by laches.

Wherefore, this answering defendant prays that plaintiff take nothing herein; that defendant have and recover his costs of suit; and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem meet and just.

9. He hereby accepts the provisions herein made for him in full and complete satisfaction and settlement of, and in lieu of, all past, present and future claims, demands and liabilities of every nature and description whatsoever against said Natalie M. Kalmus on or about June 14, 1944, she represents and warrants that the letters so returned constituted all of the letters taken from the possession of Herbert T. Kalmus, and that she has no additional copies thereof, and that she knows of no additional copies, photostatic or otherwise.

14. That in further consideration of the payment to her of the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) paid to her by Herbert T. Kalmus pursuant to paragraph 1 of this agreement, (a) she hereby accepts the provisions herein made for her in full and complete satisfaction and settlement of, and in lieu of, all past, present and future claims, demands and liabilities of every nature and description whatsoever against Herbert T. MEMO OF DECISION

The order to show cause having heretofore been heard, argued and submitted, the Court now makes the following findings and order:

The Court finds that the plaintiff has accepted support from the defendant since the entry of the Massachusetts divorce decree, that plaintiff has accepted the benefits of the 1945 contract and has failed to return the benefits to defendant or to give notice of rescission of said contract. For the purposes of this hearing the contract of 1945 is found to be a valid contract. The Court finds that there was no reconciliation between the parties and that the plaintiff has failed to establish the relationship of husband and wife between the parties by a preponderance of the evidence. Alimony pendente lite, attorneys fees and costs are denied.

Judge.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk, SS., Superior Court in Equity.

Natalie Kalmus vs. Herbert Kalmus.

PETITION TO VACATE DECREE

Respectfully Represents Natalie Kalmus, Your Petitioner, as Follows:

1. That your Petitioner is now residing in Boston in this Commonwealth; that the Respondent is a resident of Centerville, in the County of Barnstable in this Commonwealth.

2. That your Petitioner was married to the Respondent at Templeton, Massachusetts on July 23, 1902.

3. That on October 24, 1921, your Petitioner filed a libel for divorce against the Respondent in the Court, which libel was given docket number 2575, and on December 22, 1921, a decree nisi was entered by this Court on the aforementioned libel, granting your Petitioner a divorce from the Respondent.

4. That within a day or two after the entry of the decree nisi, the Respondent communicated with your he Petitioner; he asked her for her forgiveness and stated ^ that desired a reconciliation; he informed your Petitioner that the divorce decree would not become final until some time in the future and that he would see to it that the divorce decree did not become final; he informed her that it would not be necessary for her to consult with her attorneys as he would have his attorneys prevent the divorce decree from becoming final; he further stated to your Petitioner that the resumption of the marital relation between the Petitioner and Respondent would make the vacation of the decree a mere formality and that his attorneys would see that the formality was complied with.

5. That the Respondent did not, at the time of making these statements, intend to take any steps to prevent the entry of a final decree; that he intended to deceive your Petitioner by the statements which he made to her and he intended to cause her to resume marital relationships, well knowing that the divorce decree would become final.

6. That in reliance upon the statements made by the Respondent, your Petitioner on or about December 24, 1921 resumed marital relations with the Respondent; that your Petitioner and the Respondent have lived openly and notoriously as husband and wife since said date until 1944.

7. That your Petitioner was informed by the Respondent and she believed that the decree of divorce was vacated and that a final decree was never entered; and she was informed and believed that her original marital status had been revived and resumed and that the whole divorce proceeding was nullified.

8. That on June 22, 1922, the decree nisi became final; that the Respondent did not take any steps to prevent the entry of said final decree; that said final decree was entered at a time when your Petitioner and Respondent were living together as husband and wife and were holding themselves out to the world as being husband and wife; that the Respondent has perpetrated a fraud upon this Honorable Court by knowingly allowing a final decree of divorce to be entered at a time when he had induced your Petitioner to resume marital relations with him and at a time when he was living openly and notoriously as husband and wife with your Petitioner, and at a time when he knew that your Petitioner was relying upon him to prevent the entry of a final decree.

9. That your Petitioner has only recently learned of her rights.

10. That your Petitioner does not have an adequate remedy at law and unless equitable relief is granted to her, irreparable damage will result.

Wherefore, Your Petitioner Prays:

1. That the decree entered on December 22, 1921 in case number 2575 be vacated and the libel be dismissed.

2. For such other and further relief as to this Honorable Court seems just and meet.

GEORGE F. LEWIS, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

I am a member of the Bar of the State of New York and of the United States Supreme Court. I maintain an office for the general practice of my profession at 15 Broad Street, New York, N. Y.

I have known Natalie Kalmus for many years and the last time I spoke to her was on January 10, 1949 when she spent the entire day at my office while depositions were being taken in this litigation.

On Thursday, May 19, 1949, I was advised that Natalie Kalmus was staying at the Hotel Chatham, 39 East 48th Street, New York City, and was planning to leave that evening for Boston on the Merchants Limited of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. I checked with the Hotel Chatham and found she was registered there in Room 214.

Accordingly, my secretary, Helen Hughes and I went to Grand Central Station the afternoon of May 19, 1949. We arrived at the station at 4:25 P. M. (E. D. S. T.) and entered through the Hotel Biltmore entrance. As we entered the upper level of the station I noticed Natalie Kalmus immediately ahead of us, she having come down the steps from the Vanderbilt Avenue entrance. She was walking alone, in her usual sprightly manner, and was wearing a blue suit and a straw hat. I saw her go to the gate of the Merchants Limited, which was scheduled to leave at five O'clock (E. D. S. T.). When the gates were opened I saw Natalie Kalmus go down to the platform alone and although Miss Hughes and I waited there until the train had left she did not come out.

DOMINICK SACO, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

I live at 37-15 81st Street, Jackson Heights, County of Queens, State of New York.

I am employed as a private investigator by the Schindler Bureau of Investigation, 7 East 44th Street, New York, N. Y.

I have been designated to follow Natalie M. Kalmus several times and have, therefore, seen her on numerous occasions. I have positively identified her from her pictures and, further, I have heard her addressed by name by the desk clerk at the Barclay Hotel, 111 East 48th Street, New York, N. Y.

At 10:45 A. M. on Thursday, May 19, 1949 pursuant to the instructions of a client, I took up observation in the vicinity of the Hotel Chatham, 39 East 48th Street, New York, N. Y., it having been learned that Natalie Kalmus was occupying Room 214 at this hotel.

Natalie Kalmus came into the lobby of the Hotel Chatham from one of the elevators at 12:40 P. M. She walked out of the 48th Street exit of the hotel, boarded a taxicab, and was driven to the Hotel Beekman Towers, 7 Mitchell Place, where she alighted and entered at 12:50 P. M.

Shortly thereafter, I observed Natalie Kalmus entering the main dining room of this hotel in the company of a man. He took her to a table where there was a group of eleven men and women seated and her escort introduced her to this group. They then took seats at the same table.

At 2:20 P. M. I saw Natalie Kalmus leave the Hotel Beekman Towers in the company of another man. They walked to First Avenue and 49th Street, entered a taxicab and were driven west. Between Lexington and Park Avenues the man alighted from the cab and Natalie Kalmus continued in the cab to 57th Street and Madison Avenue, where she alighted and ran through the moving traffic to the north side of the street and entered the French Bootery at 19 East 57th Street, at 2:45 P. M.

Twenty-five minutes later, at 3:10 P. M., Natalie Kalmus came out of the French Bootery, crossed to the south side of 57th Street through heavy moving traffic, entered a taxicab and was driven to the Hotel Chatham, which she entered at 3:20 P. M.

At 4:20 P. M. I saw Natalie Kalmus come out of the Hotel Chatham, accompanied by a porter who carried a large tan bag and a small tan bag. The doorman obtained a taxicab, which she entered with her luggage. She was driven to the Vanderbilt Avenue entrance to Grand Central Terminal. There she alighted. She entered the station and walked down to the gate to Track 26, from which track the Merchants Limited of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was scheduled to leave for Boston, Massachusetts, at 5:00 P. M. A few moments later the gate to Track 26 was opened and she boarded the Merchants Limited, entering car 264 and occupying seat No. 30. After making certain that her luggage had been placed aboard the train, she left her seat and walked into the diner.

Natalie Kalmus was still on board the Merchants Limited when it left Grand Central Station on schedule at 5:00 P. M.

Throughout the entire time outlined in this affidavit I was accompanied by Bradley Mortimer, who lives at 15 West 68th Street, New York, N. Y., and who is also a private investigator employed by the Schindler Bureau of Investigation.

All the times mentioned in this affidavit are Eastern Daylight Saving Time:

As we entered the main part of the station I observed Natalie Kalmus directly preceding us. She was wearing a blue suit and a natural straw hat with brown and green ribbons hanging down the back.

Natalie Kalmus went over to the gate of the track on which the Merchants Limited was scheduled to leave for Boston at 5:00 P. M. (E. D. S. T.). I noticed that she stopped in front of the gate and talked to a gentle-

I waited until after the Merchants Limited had departed for Boston and I did not see Natalie Kalmus return through the gate.

SUMNER H. BABCOCK, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

1. I live in Wellesley, Massachusetts, and I am a partner in the firm of Bingham, Dana & Gould, attorneys, with offices at One Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts. We represent Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus.

2. On April 5, 1949, there was a hearing on a motion filed in the case brought by Natalie M. Kalmus against Herbert Kalmus in the Superior Court for Norfolk County, Massachusetts. After the hearing, while I was riding back to Boston in Mr. Aronson's car with him and Mrs. Natalie M. Kalmus, he asked me if I would consent to having the Massachusetts case heard in Boston, which is in Suffolk County, since it could not be heard in Dedham, which is in Norfolk County where the case is pending, until next Fall. I replied that I would not consent and said that it seemed better to me to dispose of the California case first. He said he desired to dispose of the Massachusetts case first.

3. Under date of April 20, 1949, we received notice that Mr. Aronson had filed a motion to have the case heard in Suffolk County. The next session of the Court at Dedham sitting jury-waived will be in next September.

Because there was no Motion Session in Norfolk County at the time, his motion was heard at Boston on Friday, April 29, 1949. He argued that the Massachusetts case should be decided before the California case. I opposed the motion. The Court denied the motion.

4. On Friday, May 27, 1949, I telephoned to Dr. Lowrey Davenport of Boston, Massachusetts, relative to his affidavit which had been filed in the California case and relative to Natalie M. Kalmus' hospital record in the Baker Memorial Hospital division of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts. He said that he was confused relative to her condition; that it was difficult to say how much of her trouble was functional and how much was organic; and that she had insisted on leaving the Hospital on May 3, 1949.

AFFIDAVIT RE PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR A CONTINUANCE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, County of Suffolk—ss.

HARRY L. KOZOL, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

1. I live at 35 Kenilworth Street, Newton, Massachuchusetts. I am a doctor. My office is at 115 Bay State Road, Boston, Massachusetts. I was educated at Harvard College and Harvard Medical School and took my medical internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital until 1936. I did post-graduate work in psychiatry at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital and Johns Hopkins Hospital. While at Johns Hopkins Hospital, I was on a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship. From September, 1938 to September of 1939, I was graduate assistant in p*h*sychiatry at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, and from that time I have been in private practice in Boston. At present, I am visiting neurologist at the Boston City Hospital, and Clinical Associate at the Harvard Medical School.

2. I have examined the abstract of the record of the Baker Memorial division of the Massachusetts General Hospital referring to one Mrs. Natalie Kalmus of 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts, age 67, Protestant, admitted April 29, 1949 and discharged May 3, 1949, a photostatic copy of which is hereto attached. In my opinion, based upon a study of this abstract, there is no medical reason why Mrs. Natalie Kalmus cannot travel to California at this time and participate in a court trial or any other legal or business procedure.

3. My reasons for this opinion are as follows: The abstract shows that this patient was studied and treated from April 27 to May 3, 1949, in the course of which a history was provided by the patient, thorough physical and neurological examinations were done, her urine was studied, blood count and chemistry performed and X-rays of the skull and gastro-intestinal tract were made.

4. The history as given indicates a personality which is likely to complain out of proportion to the existence of actual medical disease. The patient is said to have gained weight from late 1947 and to have maintained a weight of 120 "despite vomiting" which is said to occur "almost daily for the past five to six months."

5. The only positive finding was a mildly elevated blood pressure, and "An incidental finding is irregular sclerosis and cortical thickening of the left ilium and the left side of the sacrum. Question of Paget's disease." Paget's disease is a common metabolic disorder in which one or more bones tend to develop thinned out areas with associated or compensatory overgrowth of bone. In general it is an essentially benign condition. When there is overactivity in bone formation the phosphatase in the blood is likely to be elevated.

6. The low specific gravity of the urine is inconsequential without knowledge of her previous intake of fluids. However, the fact that there is no indication that the nitrogen content of her blood was evaluated indicates that there was no kidney problem. Furthermore, there is no bile in the urine nor any blood chemical test such as icteric index, both of which surely would have been done if there had been any justifiable suspicion of liver disease. There is no reference to liver disease in the abstract.

7. There was nothing in the entire gastro-intestinal tract which would indicate any organic trouble.

8. Taking all of the details in the Hospital record together the following conclusions emerge: (1) This patient is not suffering from any substantial, critical or incapacitating disease. (2) Her complaints are grossly disproportionate to any of the findings. These views are supported by the final sentences in the abstract which read as follows: "The history makes less sense today than ever. There is a large functional overlay."

9. Reference is now made to the affidavit of Dr. Lowery F. Davenport, M. D. in which he states that Mrs. Natalie Kalnins "was discharged with the diagnosis of hypertension—mild, question of Meniere's disease, hepatitis—cause undetermined.

10. The questionable Meniere's disease refers to the possibility of recurrent dizziness being due to some trouble in the ears. This patient does not have Meniere's disease, but even if she did have it, it would be no barrier to traveling and participating in legal business. The mild Paget's diseases was an incidental X-ray finding and is not in the least incapacitating. Hepatitis is not supported by the abstract, and is something which certainly could have been settled while the patient was in the Hospital. If this patient is too sick to make a transcontinental trip she was certainly too sick to be permitted to leave the Hospital before all questions in the doctor's mind were cleared up.

11. In consideration of all the above it is my opinion that this patient is medically able to make a transcontinental trip and participate in any legal or business matters.

Abstract Of The Record Of: Natalie Kalmus
266 Dean Road
Brookline,
Mass.
Age: 67 at that time Marital Status: M.

Admitted to Baker Memorial Hospital
Discharged: May 3, 1949
Diagnosis: (1) Paget's Disease
(2) Question of Meniere's Disease

Admission Note: This is the first Baker Memorial admission of this 67 year old white married female entering with a diagnosis of: Brain Tumor.

Chief Complaint: Headaches, dizziness, and tinnitus.

Present Illness: The patient has had various and sundry ailments throughout her life.

Ten months ago, she first noted the onset of sore deep headache in frontal and occipital regions which was intermittent, relieved by codeine and which has become worse in the past few days. Previous to this there might be several days free from pain which would then recur. She cannot take aspirin because its effect on her heart. Pain is perhaps worst over left eye brow.

For the past four to five days, all symptoms have been exaggerated and she has noted some tenderness behind her ears and in her neck which was slightly stiff. Over this interval she has had severe dizziness, a sensation described as if things were moving away from her without vertigo. Dizziness is accompanied by nausea and vomiting and retching for long periods. If is difficult to evaluate the nausea because she has been nauseated for several years off and on ever since eating poor food for several years in England. She has been vomiting almost daily for the past five to six months. Because of malnutrition patient lost weight from 132 to 108, when she returned to USA in late 1947, she has gained to 120 which she has maintained despite vomiting. Appetite has been good. Seven days ago she hit her vertex on a table but did not lose consciousness and it is difficult to pin her later symptoms on a progression from this.

There have been no convulsions, paralysis, difficulty with speech, or coordination, no numbness or tingling except slight in left fourth or fifth fingers, no diplopia, slight blurring of vision for past four to five days, no change in hearing.

Patient has received inconstant treatment with thyroid, pituitary hormones and vitamins. Referred in for evaluation.

Physical Examination: Patient is a well developed and nourished, well preserved, extremely intelligent elderly woman, occasionally taking sighing respirations, and complaining at times of pain in head.
Neurological Examination: Fundi could not be observed, pin point pupils. Pupils miotic, regular and equal, react to light and accommodation, extra ocular movement full, no significant nystagmus. Fields confrontation. Corneals normal.
Neck negative.
Motor: Power O.K., no atrophy, no dysdiadochokinesis, Finger to Nose, Heel to Shin, tests done well, no past pointing or returned.
Reflexes active and equal; Plantars ↓; O Hoffmann; Abdominals absent.
Sensory: Corneals, touch and position intact.
Blood pressure: 210-180/110-120; Veins flat, heart normal.
Liver felt and percussed down 1 finger breadth on inspiration, spleen descends 2 finger breadths on spiration and is moderately tender.

28, Urine Examination: Color: light amber. Reaction: acid. Specific Gravity: 1.010. Sediment: Rare wbc and epithelial cells.

28. Specimen of Blood: Wbc 6,700.

29, X-Ray Skull: The left internal acoustic meatus appears to be larger than the right canal and there is the barest suggestion of erosive change at the pores acousticus. The skull is not otherwise remarkable. The pituitary fossa is intact. The asymmetry described in the petrous ridges could be on the basis of an acoustic neurinoma. The changes, however, are not of sufficient severity to be pathognomonic.

28. Specimen of Blood: Calcium: 9.6 mgs%
Phosphorus: 4.3 mgs%
Phosphatase: 8.7 units %

2. X-Ray Gastro-Intestinal Series: The esophagus showed no abnormality. Rugae of the stomach were regular and peristalsis was active. No defects were seen in the gastric or duodenal wall. An incidental finding is irregular sclerosis and cortical thickening of the left ilium and the left side of the sacrum. Question of Paget's disease.

1. Gastro-intestinal series negative. X-ray and phosphatase consistent with Paget's disease. The history makes less sense today than ever. There is a large functional overlay.

1. Patient discharged today.

AFFIDAVIT RE PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR A CONTINUANCE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, County of Suffolk—ss.

JOSEPH DECKER, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

1. I live in Brookline, Massachusetts, and own and operate a detective agency. On Friday, May 13, 1949, after receiving instructions from Bingham, Dana & Gould, including photographs of Natalie Kalmus, I went to one of the Boston newspapers and obtained further pictures of her.

2. On Saturday, May 14, 1949, at 6:40 p. m., I went to the house at 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts, where Mrs. Hazel M. Sawyer lives. The house is assessed to her at $19,700, and she pays a personal tax on $2,000 of personal property, according to the records at the Brookline City Hall. About 8:15 p.m. the porch light over the front door was lighted and at 8:35 p. m. a taxicab drove up to the door with a woman passenger, whom I identified as Natalie Kalmus. She was about 5'4" high, weighed about 110-120 pounds, was wearing a dark suit and shoes, a light straw hat with a veil or or streamers down the back. She was carrying a small bag and a coat over her arm. She left the cab, walked up the steps and a door was opened by some woman from inside. Almost immediately the lights in the bedroom on the second floor were turned on and a door that leads from that bedroom out to an open porch was opened.

3. The taxicab turned around and I pursued the cab and finally caught it and asked the driver to stop. The cab driver informed me that he had picked up a man and two women at Park Square, Boston, and had left the man and one of the women at Pelham Hall, a hotel in Brookline, and had then proceeded to 266 Dean Road with the other woman. During the ride his passengers stated that they had been to the race track at Suffolk Downs, arriving at about the fifth race and the woman whom he carried to 266 Dean Road said she had won $20. She also said the maid would let her in when she arrived at 266 Dean Road.

4. On the evening of Sunday, May 15, the bedroom on the second floor was lighted and at about 8:50 p. m. a taxicab drove up to the door with two women and a man as passengers. While they were coming into the house and for some time thereafter, Natalie Kalmus continued to stay in her room on the second floor. The door of this room leading to the porch was open and through this door I saw very clearly her reflection in the mirror on what apparently was a bathroom door. She was washing in the bathroom adjacent to her room. Her auburn or reddish hair was clearly seen.

5. On Monday, May 23, at 10:55 a. m., I saw a gray Lincoln sedan being driven into the driveway at 266 Dean Road, and then I saw Mrs. Kalmus sitting in the front seat with the driver. The car backed out of Dean Road to Chestnut Hill Avenue and went to the Jennings Motor Company in Watertown, where the driver got out and a new driver got in. The car then went to the City Hall in Waltham, where Mrs. Kalmus left the car, crossed the street and entered the City Hall at 11:18

a. m. She came out of the building at 11:40 a. m. crossing the street laughing. She was wearing a blue suit, a brown straw hat with green streamers and veil. The car in which she was riding drove away and I lost it at a traffic light.

6. On Thursday, May 26, I observed her leave the house at 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts, in the black Buick sedan registered in the name of Hazel M. Sawyer. She was driven by a woman to St. Mary's Street and Beacon Street, where she got out of the car alone. She went into a tailor's shop, Bernstein's, for a few minutes. Then she returned to the automobile and took a small package. The other woman remained behind the wheel. Then Mrs. Kalmus walked over to the subway reservation. The subway stops there and goes underground. She caught the subway. The subway car was crowded but she forced her way into it. She was wearing a blue and white plaid suit.

7. Each time that I saw Mrs. Kalmus she walked firmly, briskly and vigorously. She pushes through crowds in a way that makes it very hard to follow her, and I noticed nothing to indicate that she was not in good health.

JOSEPHINE DECKER, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

1. I am the wife of Joseph Decker of Brookline, Massachusetts, who operates a detective agency.

2. I examined the pictures of Natalie Kalmus which Mr. Decker obtained from Bingham, Dana & Gould and from the Boston newspaper.

3. I was with Mr. Decker and saw Mrs. Kalmus arrive at 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts, on Saturday night, May 14, 1949, at 8:35 p. m. I also saw her in her bedroom on the second floor of that house on Sunday night, May 15, 1949.

4. On Thursday, May 19, 1949, I was informed by Bingham, Dana & Gould that she was coming to Boston on the train from New York known as The Merchants Limited, which was due at Back Bay Station in Boston at 8:54 p. m. Daylight Saving Time. I went to meet that train and saw the black Buick sedan registered in the name of Mrs. Hazel M. Sawyer parked by the station. Sitting behind the wheel was the woman who also lives at 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts. The train arrived about 8:54 p. m. The tracks are below the first floor level at Back Bay, and an elevator brings passengers up and into the station. I stood by one of these elevators. On the third trip, Mrs. Kalmus was on the elevator. She was wearing a dark blue suit and a light straw hat with green and tan veiling in back and a veil around her face. She had a brown shoulder bag with a strap over her shoulder. She was not travelling with anyone, but was travelling alone. She stepped quickly off the elevator, sort of pivoted around as though she were looking for someone to meet her. She was met by the woman I had previously seen sitting in the black Buick sedan. This woman told her where the car was parked and left her. While Mrs. Kalmur was standing there, a man of middle age or older, tall, rather slim, spoke to her and she said "Hello, Dan." She pointed to the parking space and he left. She got her baggage and went out and got into the black Buick sedan, which was driven slowly to 266 Dean Road, Brookline. The car went into the garage and they took out the baggage. They then drove down the street and came back in about 5 minutes, put the car in the garage, and closed the garage doors.

5. On Friday, May 20, 1949, at 8:45 p. m., the lights in her room went on. The door leading from her room onto the porch was opened.

6. On Monday, May 23, 1949, at 2:00 p. m., I saw Mrs. Kalmus and a middle-aged woman seated in Box No. 4 at the Club House at Suffolk Downs, the race track in Boston, Massachusetts. The first race had just started and Mrs. Kalmus was very excited, standing up, and waving her hands as though she had bet on some horse. She played every race and went to the $2 window before each race and bought several tickets. I noticed her throw away the ones that did not win. There were quite a few tickets on the floor at her feet. At 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Kalmus and the other woman went into the dining room at the Club House and I followed them in. They sat down, ordered something to eat and looked over the racing forms and talked together. Then they went back to Box No. 4. After the sixth race Mrs. Kalmus left. This was at 4:20 p. m. She was alone. She took a street car from the track. I sat in the seat behind her. I observed that she was reading birth certificates dated May 23, 1949, Waltham, Massachusetts. She had three of them. The name on one was Ransom LaForest, January 18, 1897, and another was Thelma Edna Dunfee, 61 High Street, Waltham, Massachusetts. When we arrived at Maverick Square, East Boston, she asked me if this was the way to Scollay Square and I replied yes. She got on the subway and I did too. Quite a few people got off at Devonshire Street and she did too. I followed her off. She seemed bewildered. We were the only ones standing on the station platform. I said to her that I had made a mistake and thought it was Scollay Square, and she replied that she had also. She took another train and rode to the next stop, which was Scollay Square. I did the same. She then got onto a Beacon Street trolley car, which is the car that goes to Cleveland Circle and is the nearest car to 266 Dean Road. I got on the same car. I left the car shortly before Cleveland Circle, and she was still on the car.

7. On Thursday, May 26, 1949, I was with Mr. Decker and saw Mrs. Kalmus leave the house at 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts, in the black Buick sedan registered in the name of Hazel M. Sawyer. I saw her driven to St. Mary's Street and Beacon Street, where she got out of the car alone and went into Bernstein's, the tailor shop. Then she went over to the car and took out a package, which she carried with her. She then walked over to the subway stop and took the subway. The subway car was crowded but she forced her way into it and I did likewise. She got off the subway at Park Street, went into Sawyer's Store on Tremont Street, Boston, where she left the package. Then she went to The First National Bank of Boston branch on Temple Place, Boston. There she took an elevator and I waited for her on the ground floor. She came back, left the bank, and started to walk along the street when she stopped and looked over papers in her bag for several minutes. Then she turned around and went back to the branch of The First National Bank of Boston on Temple Place and again took the elevator. A short while later the elevator came back and she went out the door of the bank in a hurry and hailed a passing taxi. I lost her at this point. She was wearing a blue and white plaid suit.

8. Every time that I saw her she walked fast, and in a crowd she pushed her way right through it. I did not see anything to indicate that she was not in good health.

AFFIDAVIT RE PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR A CONTINUANCE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, County of Suffolk—ss.

FRANK BOHMBACH, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

1. I live in Boston, Massachusetts. I was employed by Joseph Decker to observe Natalie Kalmus. I first examined the pictures of her which Mr. Decker had. I was with Mrs. Josephine Decker on Thursday night, May 19, 1949, when Mrs. Kalmus came in from New York on The Merchants Limited at the Back Bay station. I saw her then at the station and I followed her in the car with Mrs. Decker to 266 Dean Road, Brookline, Massachusetts.

2. On Saturday, May 21, 1949, I observed Mrs. Kalmus at 2:45 p. m. in the Club House at Suffolk Downs, the race track at Boston, Massachusetts, sitting in Box No. 4 with a man and woman. I saw her go to the $2 window and get tickets for four or five races. Sometimes she went to the window alone, sometimes with the woman and other times with the man. At one time she went into the Club restaurant alone and stayed there about twenty minutes. She mingled very freely with the people. She was dressed in a dark blue suit, yellow shirtwaist and a natural colored straw hat with green and brown ribbon streamers. She wore tortoise shell glasses when reading the racing sheet. I lost her after the seventh race. There was a very large crowd at the track that day.

3. She walked fast and shouldered her way through the large crowd without any trouble. I saw nothing to indicate that she was not in good health.

2 Civil No. 17,534

In the District Court of Appeal, State of California, Second Appellate District, Division One.

Natalie M. Kalmus, Plaintiff and Appellant, vs. Herbert T. Kalmus and Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation (a corporation), Defendants and Respondents.

EXCERPTS FROM APPELLANT'S PETITION FOR A REHEARING

Page 16, lines 5 to 25, inclusive: "It is quite apparent from its opinion that the Court failed to appreciate the only real legal issue raised by Appellant with regard to whether or not the trial Court committed an abuse of discretion in proceeding to determine the validity of the Massachusetts decree.

"At pages 47 to 51 of the Appellant's Closing Brief, we took particular pains to set forth Appellant's contention in this regard in the clearest terms we could find. Apparently we have failed to secure the Court's attention on this issue inasmuch as the opinion omits consideration of it entirely, failing to make the necessary legal distinctions in order to properly consider the matter.

"In simple terms, the question raised is this: 'Did the trial Court commit an abuse of discretion by proceeding to determine the validity of the Massachusetts decree in an uncontested proceeding when it had been advised that the Massachusetts court had already assumed to determine the question?' We raised no issue as to the power of the trial Court to proceed." . . .
